MANAGER COMMENTARY

Two thirds of the portfolio (by weight) have now provided financial updates for the current corporate reporting season. A majority of these have seen steady rather than spectacular results. During the fourth quarter of 2020, most companies saw a strong rebound from the challenging conditions of earlier in the year. For the companies that reported their full financial year results (a little over half of the portfolio), there has been on average, growth in both revenues, up 1%, and operating profits, up 2%. Over 80% experienced revenue growth between -10% and +10%, and over half between -5% and +5%. Our aim, with the Evenlode investment process, is to invest predominantly in stable companies that have the capacity to perform through thick and thin. These statistics indicate that this aim has been, on the whole, achieved in a time of significant turmoil. There are those that are more affected though. Positively, technology firms eBay and Microsoft benefitted from the rapid shift to home shopping and home working, and medical diagnostics businesses Sonic Healthcare and Quest Diagnostics from demand for medical testing. Negatively, recruitment companies Adecco and PageGroup were impacted by the shock to the labour market from global lockdowns, and advertising agencies Publicis and Omnicom by a retraction of corporate marketing spend. Whilst those results are more striking, the steady results from most of the portfolio should not be forgotten. Resilient financials, coupled with attractive valuations, creates a solid basis for future corporate performance and shareholder returns, where we have seen dividend payments rebound as a result of robust corporate performance.

You should therefore regard your investment as long term. Details on the risk factors are included in the fund's prospectus, available on our website.
