

TB EVENLODE GLOBAL INCOME

MONTHLY FACTSHEET all data as at 30 June 2021

MANAGER COMMENTARY

Global equity markets continued to climb during June, and the portfolio broadly followed suit. During the second quarter of 2021 the contributors to performance have been from a range of sectors. Indeed, the top four contributions came from the diverse selection of Wolters Kluwer (media), Roche (healthcare), Microsoft (software), and Nestlé (consumer goods). In last month's commentary we noted the diverging valuation opportunities that are presenting themselves as some parts of the market get left behind the generally upward trend. In June we initiated a position in one such opportunity, US consumer goods company Clorox. Clorox has a portfolio of products focusing on household, health and hygiene, with a small international presence but mainly concentrated on the US market. It is most associated with its eponymous brand of cleaning products, but has also created dominant positions in several niches. These include in charcoal/grilling (Kingsford), cat litter (Fresh Step), and water filtration (Brita). We have followed the company for some time and met with the firm in their Oakland, California headquarters in 2018, where we were impressed by their use of digital marketing helped by their proximity to Silicon Valley. In addition to a commitment to product innovation, Clorox has committed to clear environmental and social targets including a reduction in packaging waste, increasing the use of recyclable or compostable packaging to 100% by 2025. The company is also setting science-based targets for reducing greenhouse gas emissions, including 'Scope 3' emissions from the whole supply chain. Scope 3 is important for the companies we target at Evenlode, for whom the vast majority of total emissions associated with the goods and services they sell are not generated from their own operations.

Integration into the investment process

We measure companies in our investable universe on a range of financial and non-financial risks: business, financial and investment risks. Due to the long-term time horizon of our investments and nature of ESG-related risks materialising usually over the long-term, we classify ESG risk as a 'business risk'.

Evenlode Investment Management became a signatory to the United Nations Principles for Responsible Investment (UNPRI) in 2018. By becoming signatories, we commit to implementing these principles and incorporating environmental, social and governance factors into our investment process to help enhance returns and better manage risk for our clients.

You should therefore regard your investment as long term. Details on the risk factors are included in the fund's prospectus, available on our website.
