MANAGER COMMENTARY

The fund rose slightly in value in November, a month in which the news and financial market moves were dominated by the result of the US elections. The reaction has been one of heightened exuberance around US listed companies. Financial stocks in the country have soared, particularly banks and firms related to cryptocurrencies, and IT companies have resumed their upward march. Domestically focused US businesses have risen as expectations around tax cuts and a deregulatory agenda are priced in. This was reflected in the portfolio, with toolmaker Snap-on rising +14% in total return terms in sterling, partly also reflecting a strengthening in the US dollar. Consumer goods giant Procter & Gamble, networking and security firm Cisco, and payroll & human resources outsourcer Paychex exemplified the market enthusiasm for all things US listed. The flip side of this is that companies listed outside of the US fell, with the perception that the incoming US administration's deglobalisation agenda will cause harm as tariffs are implemented. We have analysed the potential impact of tariffs based on the portfolio's manufacturing and distribution footprint. The high-level summary is that whilst there are a small number of companies that would find it challenging to re-route distribution, the majority of businesses already have localised supply and manufacturing or could re-route if needed, limiting the applicability of tariffs. For more detail please see our November investment view, available at the link below.

The market moves have further accentuated the existing valuation differential between US listed companies and those elsewhere. Taking a famous example, Tesla is now trading at over one hundred times next year's expected earnings (source: S&P CapIQ). We take a fundamental approach to valuation analysis, and even adjusting for different growth prospects we see a clear valuation opportunity particularly in European listed businesses. Whilst market excitement is currently elsewhere, the portfolio's positioning reflects this opportunity, and also in our view manages the valuation risk that is increasingly apparent at a global level, particularly in the US.

ENVIRONMENTAL, SOCIAL AND GOVERNANCE (ESG)

We believe that delivering real, durable returns over the long term can be best achieved by integrating environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into our risk management framework as this ensures that all long-term risks are monitored and managed on an ongoing basis. In addition to reviewing ESG factors when making investment decisions, we engage with portfolio companies on a range of ESG issues (for example greenhouse gas emission reduction). However, please note that the fund does not have a sustainability objective.

Integration into the investment process

We consider engagement with companies as an opportunity. Discussing challenges with companies enables us to understand their business context and obtain more information about their mitigation of and resilience to the risks that we perceive. Ultimately though, we are seeking to create long-term value for our clients through improving the sustainability characteristics of a company. However, we understand that all this takes time and a measured approach. This requires us to set appropriate engagement objectives which allow us to stay focused and accurately monitor the results.
