MANAGER COMMENTARY

December marked another turn for equity markets in a volatile 2022, this time in a downward direction. The MSCI World Index, the fund's comparator benchmark, declined by -5.2% in sterling terms and -4.2% in dollars in the month. The fund fared better in relative terms, being down -1.6% in sterling terms and 0.6% in dollars. This meant that the fund outperformed the benchmark a little for the year as a whole, but below the surface there were forces pulling the fortunes of different companies and sectors in wildly different directions.

In sector terms the biggest detractor from relative performance was the Energy sector, which returned +67.9% in the market (source: FactSet) but to which the fund has no exposure. This performance was driven by rapidly rising energy prices as a result of the Russian invasion of Ukraine. The biggest relative contributor was the Communication Services sector, which endured a torrid year driven notably by a decline in the fortunes of Meta Platforms and Netflix, which again the fund does not own. So at those extremes of relative performance it was about 'the notes we didn't play', to take jazz great Miles Davis' quote into a completely different realm. When it comes to the notes we do play the biggest detractor was the Health Care sector, which for the fund underperformed the market due to various company-specific reasons. The biggest contributor relative to the market was the Consumer Staples sector, which proved resilient in the face of supply chain challenges and economic disruption.

The Evenlode Global Income strategy celebrated its fifth anniversary in November 2022, a period which, needless to say, has been challenging as well as interesting. In our recent investment view we dissected the fund's performance over its first five years, which is available on the Evenlode Investment website for interested readers.

Integration into the investment process

We analyse, estimate and report on the carbon footprint of all investee companies across scope 1, 2 and 3 (subject to data availability) and aim to achieve a lower carbon footprint than the MSCI World Index. At the time of preparing the analysis at end of 2021, the results showed the emissions associated with investing £10k in one of our funds is between 0.6 and 2.4 tonnes of CO₂-equivalents, or between 25 and 56 kilograms for scope 1 and 2 alone. For context, average per-capita emissions for UK residents are 4.8 tonnes per year, or 13 tonnes per year if imports from other countries are included. This analysis further provides us with information that is the basis for risk-based targeting of company engagements.
